The rescue of the Danish Jews during World War II
How was it possible?

Jewish Ethiopia
Naftali Aklum

Sun., Nov. 3 @ 1:00 PM

Jewish Yemen
Joey Leskin

Sun., Dec. 8 @ 1:00 PM

Delve into the remarkable tale of how over 97% of Danish Jews were saved during World War II in October 1943. Learn about the extraordinary efforts of the Danish king, bishops, healthcare professionals, fishermen, and ordinary citizens who risked everything to protect their fellow Danes. Hear firsthand accounts from the guide Charlotte Thalmay, who will share her personal stories of survival and resilience during that tumultuous time.

What it is like to live a Jewish life in Denmark today?

Charlotte will provide a glimpse into the vibrant and diverse Danish Jewish Community and share the challenges and triumphs faced by this community, including reflections on the 2015 terror attack that shook its core, and the effect from the war in Gaza.

Charlotte Thalmay, born and raised in Copenhagen, Denmark, descends from Polish-Lithuanian Jews, who settled in Denmark in 1905. She is an active member of Denmark's Jewish Community, serving as chair of the Jewish youth organization, board member of the community and Vice-president of the Zionist Federation. For more than 25 years she has worked as a tour guide all over Denmark. In 2006 Charlotte founded the tour company Jewish Copenhagen which today is the largest provider of Jewish tours in Scandinavia.
